EDITORIAL

Now that all the Christmas decorations are packed safely away until next holiday season, the MONDAY REPORT would like to take this opportunity to offer one more new year's wish: May health and happiness follow Shelton State president Leo Sumner and his family during 1983 and the following years.

President Sumner has stamped his mark indelibly on the college since its conception and we are happy to have him back with us after his recent illness. He and his wife, Rebecca, have contributed much to so many and we hope they know how much they mean to all of us at Shelton State Community College.

TECHNICAL TALK

Under the direction of drafting instructor Bill Stringfellow, the drafting class at the technical division has come up with several outstanding logos for new newsletters planned for Shelton State Community College. This is a real talent and the class should be very proud of their work.

If anyone at Shelton State is looking for a great lunch at a reasonable price, they should try the cafeteria at the technical division. The prices are right and the company is the best. From one who has been there often, its a great way to spend your lunch hour.
